Dubai: A prisoner died at Dubai Central Jail while in solitary confinement, a police source told Gulf News.

W.B., a 24-year-old Emirati, hanged himself on Monday afternoon, in the cell, using his jail uniform, the police source said.

W. B., who was serving a four-year sentence for drug abuse, had spent more than two years in jail.

According to the source, W.B. was sent to solitary confinement on Sunday when he returned from hospital. He underwent treatment in Rashid hospital for 21 days after attempts to cut his wrist.

Police said W.B stopped taking his medication for treating his drug abuse four months ago, which may have had a negative impact on him.
